EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with James Repass on 28 April 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the Claims:

Claim 1 Line 5 after the word "end" please insert - - defining an elongated scoop - -

Claim 1 Line 6 after the word "axis" and before the comma "," please insert - - extending along the concave face and convex back, and the blade end terminating in a plane substantially perpendicular to the longitudinal axis - -.

Claim 1 Lines 6-7, please delete - - said longitudinal axis defined by a lengthwise line through the blade end, - -

Claim 6 Line 5 after the word "end" please insert - - defining an elongated scoop - -

Claim 6 Line 6 after the word "axis" and before the comma "," please insert - -
extending along the concave face and convex back, and the blade end terminating in a plane substantially perpendicular to the longitudinal axis - -.

Art Unit: 1744

Claim 6 Lines 6-7, please delete - - said longitudinal axis defined by a lengthwise line through the blade end, - -.

Claim 8 Line 5 after the word "end" please insert - - defining an elongated scoop - -

Claim 8 Line 6 after the word "axis" and before the comma "," please insert - - extending along the concave face and convex back, and the blade end terminating in a plane substantially perpendicular to the longitudinal axis - -.

Claim 8 Lines 6-7, please delete - - said longitudinal axis defined by a lengthwise line through the blade end, - -.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

None of the prior art made of record includes a device having a scooping head comprising a blade end having a curved tip and curved edges, a concave face and convex back, said blade end defining an elongated scoop having a substantially longitudinal axis extending along the concave face and convex back, and the blade end terminating in a plane substantially perpendicular to the longitudinal axis, a head attachment end having a longitudinal axis, and said head attachment longitudinal axis being substantially parallel to the blade end longitudinal axis, a handle having a gripping end and a handle attachment end, one or more attachment poles, wherein a portion of the head attachment end being opposed from a portion of the convex back, and the blade end and head attachment are integrally formed, and wherein the head attachment longitudinal axis and the blade end longitudinal axis form a plane, the concave face configured to open substantially perpendicular to the plane.

USPN 4,447,927 to Malless, Jr. discloses a gutter cleaning apparatus, however the scooping head does not have a blade end that has a concave face and a convex back, the blade end defining an elongated scoop having a substantially longitudinal axis extending along the concave face and convex back, and the blade terminating in a plane substantially perpendicular to the longitudinal axis, and a head attachment end having a longitudinal axis, said head attachment longitudinal axis being substantially parallel to the blade end longitudinal axis.

USPN 4,640,540 to Chisholm also discloses a gutter cleaning apparatus, however the scooping head does not have a blade end that has a concave face and a convex back, the blade end defining an elongated scoop having a substantially longitudinal axis extending along the concave face and convex back, and the blade terminating in a plane substantially perpendicular to the longitudinal axis, and a head attachment end having a longitudinal axis, said head attachment longitudinal axis being substantially parallel to the blade end longitudinal axis.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
